1930 Research LLC – "Crime Data, Made Useful"

Capability Statement

1930 Research LLC specializes in transforming crime and police data into clean, structured datasets ready for analysis. With unmatched experience handling computer-aided dispatch (CAD), records management systems (RMS), and national crime databases, we solve the challenge of messy, hard-to-use data, delivering clean datasets that support effective analysis and decision-making.

Core Capabilities

- Taking raw data and preparing it for analysis by cleaning, managing, and organizing large, complex datasets — including databases with hundreds of connected tables and hundreds of millions of rows.
- Identifying duplicate records, resolving missing data, correcting data errors, accounting for changes in reporting practices, and standardizing values across datasets.
- Handling sensitive data, including personally identifiable information (PII), with strong security and compliance practices.

Differentiators

- National expert in cleaning and managing crime and police data, with deep experience working with computer-aided dispatch (CAD) systems and records management systems (RMS).
- Specializes in resolving missing data, duplicate records, inconsistent definitions over time, and disconnected tables across agency datasets.
- Combines programming expertise with specialized knowledge of criminal justice data, allowing for faster, more accurate data preparation by anticipating common quirks and pitfalls.

Past Performance

- Data cleaning and management for the United States Department of Justice and private organizations.
- Developer of the Crime Data Tool, which provides access to FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) data, and creator of software tools used for large data cleaning and preparation.
